DAVIS IS FAVORED TO WIN OKLAHOMA

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE IS VERY POPULAR THERE.

OUT TO DEFEAT WALTON

Combination Favors Election of State Ticket and of W. B. Pine, Republican Candidate for Senator.

Oklahoma City, Okla., October 13.—John W. Davis is reasonably certain of Oklahoma electoral vote. When the Democratic voters are apathetic this state sometimes turns upsidedown. There's no such danger in 1924, as the fight for and against former Governor J. C. Walton, Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate, is making Oklahomans sit up and take notice.

When Robert L. Owen, Democrat and the present senior Senator from Oklahoma sees fit to call on the Democrats of the state to repudiate Walton and cast their votes for his opponent, W. B. Pine, Republican, some idea of the intensity of the battle may be conveyed to the outside world.

Walton won in the Democratic primaries as minority candidate. He has raised the anti-klan issue. Newspapers like the Daily Oklahoman which are and have been anti-klan, decline to allow that issue to influence their feeling about Walton's candidacy so one finds here the spectacle of most of the Democratic newspapers supporting John W. Davis and the Democratic state ticket, but bolting the Democratic nominee on the senatorship.

Walton's impeachment and his record in office are given by Senator Owen as reasons for refusing to support the man named to succeed him. Naturally a row inside the Democratic party has its dangers. Pressure is being put on many old line Democrats to vote for the whole ticket including Walton, the agreement being made that defections in one place might be made to lead to others and might carry with it a certain peril to the Democratic nominees for supreme court judges. Six are to be elected which makes up a majority of the court, and the thought is being distributed among Democrats that if the Republicans win the court they will knock out the Jim Crow laws, a subject on which Oklahoma is as tender as South Carolina or any other state of the solid south.

Radical Vote Big.

Senator LaFollette will get a big vote, perhaps 100,000. This would be little less than a fifth of the total vote expected to be cast. But there always has been a farmer labor vote here and a socialist movement. It has been somewhat obscure and hasn't always gone to the polls because of the known futility of that errand. With LaFollette conceded to be in favor in the presidential contest at least in being able possibly to deadlock the contest, the radicals are coming out to vote. Then there is the protest vote against both parties. It always amounts to something. Rising agricultural prices tend to some extent to erase discontent, but it hasn't been enjoyed long enough to squelch all of the protesting farmers.

Davis Well Liked.

John W. Davis is well liked in Oklahoma. It is interesting to find a state like that, for here the newspapers have given space to his speeches and attainments and the strength of Davis is not unlike that which has been carefully cultivated for President Coolidge in states where the Republican press is all controlling.

Governor Bryan has been making a favorable impression with his speeches in this state. The Democratic campaign is well organized and the state probably will poll an exceptionally large vote which would mean a Davis victory by anywhere from 15,000 to 25,000 votes this time, even counting the defections to LaFollette.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mitchell and children were dinner guests yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hainline of Wilcox.

BIG PREPARATIONS FOR LEGION CAMP

COON HUNTING HAS BEEN RULED OUT BECAUSE OF LAW.

EXPECT 75 TO 100 MEN

Will Go On Camp Saturday Night and Sunday—Ben Chandler In Charge Commissary Dept.

Preparations are now under way for the biggest, most extensive camping trip the local post of the American Legion has undertaken, Paul Kuchs, chairman of the general committee said this morning. The camp will commence Saturday evening of this week and continue over Sunday.

Mr. Kuchs said this morning that due to the law in regard to coon hunting this part of the program will be eliminated and the party will be a fishing and mulligan stew party.

The best mulligan stew cook in Northwest Missouri will be in charge of the commissary department, the chairman said this morning. This said cook is Ben Chandler and will be with the Legion party throughout the camp.

An advance party will go out Saturday afternoon to set up the tents and put the camp in order. This advance guard will probably consist of L. M. Eek, Dave Seckington, Ed Gray, Francis Cummins, M. V. Sims and Leonard Gray. Mr. Kuchs said that Furman Rogers will be in charge of the fishing committee and that he will select his men to go early and keep this fish fresh.

It is expected that from seventy-five to 100 will make the trip and the plans for the Legion men on the camping trip are being worked out now. Dr. R. C. Person will be in charge of making arrangements for transportation. The tentative plan is to have the Legion men meet at his office near the Empire Theater.

The general committee is composed of Paul Kuchs, chairman; Henry Buhler and Albert Butherus. A meeting was held yesterday morning by the various committees to work out details.

Indiana Negroes Will Suport John W. Davis

Democratic Party's Anti-Klan Stand Attracts Colored Vote to State and National Tickets.

Indianapolis, Oct. 13.—Calling the Democratic party's heavy campaign artillery into action, John W. Davis today approved a plan to concentrate his presidential drive in an effort to carry Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Among the speakers who will aid Davis in his drive are James M. Cox standard bearer in 1920, Thomas R. Marshall, vice-president for two terms under the Wilson administration, William G. McAdoo and Samuel M. Ralston.

Today Davis was pledged the support of the Indiana Negro Voters League by a delegation of negro ministers, editors and lawyers, who told him the negroes of Indiana will vote for him and the Democratic state ticket because of the party's anti-Klan stand.

INSANE PATIENTS COST $216 A YEAR

COUNTY COURT AND CLERK MAKE ANNUAL VISIT TO NO. 2

WELL TAKEN CARE OF

New Improvement Proved Successful At State Hospital Is Occupational Training Says Mr. Smith

"State Hospital No. 2 at St. Joseph, where the county insane patients are being taken care of is in more than satisfactory condition and the patients are receiving the best of care and I don't see how the hospital could be improved," Fred Smith, county clerk, said this morning. The judges of the county court, E. T. Bailey, Charles Armstrong and Charles Walker and Fred Smith, made their annual visit to the hospital at St. Joseph Saturday.

There are at present fifty-five county charges at the State Hospital No. 2, and of this number twenty-eight are females and twenty-seven males. It costs the county, from the pauper fund, an average of $216 per year for each patient, plus clothing and other extras. The patients from this county are in the usual condition Mr. Smith said and their general condition are as well as could be expected. Of course, those that have been there for a great length of time and are getting old, may cause a little bother. The longest any patient from this county has been at the hospital has been since 1896.

The superintendent is Dr. P. E. Williams, who has had twenty-five years experience and well fitted to be in charge of such an institution. At the present time there are approximately 1,900 patients at the hospital. Patients are sent mostly from Northwest Missouri, but the district extends as far south as the Missouri River to Kansas City.

Mr. Smith noted several improvements, the outstanding one being the occupational training given to patients that are strong enough. It has proved successful since instituted a few years ago. Those that are not strong enough or fitted to work on the hospital farm are given training in trades, such as making wicker baskets, artificial flowers, rugs, and needle work. There are looms at the hospital and some of the patients make beautiful designed rugs. These are sold at the hospital store, at just a trifle more than the cost of the material.

The proceeds go back in the fund to buy material. Those patients that show more than the average ability and have a chance of recovery from their affliction are given credit for work and the extra revenue from the sale of their work is deposited for them, and some of the patients have as high as $300 on credit.

Mr. Smith told something of the meals at the hospital, saying that the patients get all they wish to eat. Those that do work are fed meat twice a day and three different vegetables. The epileptics are given meat only four times a week and fed lightly at the evening meal, as they grove more quiet at night. One beef and one hog are killed a day from the herds at the hospital.

The hospital now has a herd of pure bred Holsteins and milking ninety cows a day. The management hopes to build up the herd so that 125 cows will be milked every day, Mr. Smith said this morning.

For the 1900 patients there are 215 attendants and they are under constant watch, day and night. The patients are all classified in separate wards.

ATCHISON COUNTY CASE IS ON TRIAL

JURY GIVES JIM CLARK 9 MONTHS AND $200 FINE.

GRAND JURY RETURNS

Petit Jury Returns in Favor of Defendant in Case Nora Hendren Against Frank Ware.

The case of the State vs. Jimmie Clark violation prohibition law on a change of venue from Atchison County was on trial in circuit court this morning. J. F. Gore, prosecuting attorney of Atchison County, represented the state while Mullins & Frazier represented the defendant. Mr. Gore testified in the case and the point was raised by the defense under a decision he would not be able to argue the case. The court upheld the point by the defendant, and the case was only argued by defendant's attorneys.

The jury hearing the case was composed of C. A. Davison, Lawrence Skidmore, George Neal, Wm. Kidd, A. H. Hughes, J. W. Coulter, Floyd Westfall, Leroy Nigh, James Norton, F. W. Nicholas, Roy Schrader and Ed Goodpasture.

The jury about 2:30 o'clock this afternoon returned a verdict finding the defendant guilty and assessing his punishment at nine months in the county jail and a fine of $200.

The case of the state against Ed Clark on a charge of violation of the prohibition law, the case coming here from Atchison County, was next called and is being tried this afternoon. Before starting to trial, a motion to quash search warrant and to suppress evidence obtained thereunder was overruled.

Other proceedings in court were:

State vs. Delmar Lance, forgery, continued by agreement.

State vs. Steve Viles, petit larceny, continued by agreement.

The jury in the case of Nora Hendren, vs. Frank Ware, damages found for the defendant late Saturday afternoon.

One indictment is against Otto Kahn, who is in the St. Francis hospital, on a charge of having broken into the home of C. D. Bellows a few weeks ago. Two other indictments are against Claud Decker and Floyd Decker, who were arrested a week ago, on a charge of stealing automobile tires.

Robert Jones, who was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of possession and transportation of intoxicating liquor, pleaded not guilty and gave bail. Jones was indicted for an alleged offense which took place on September 26, 1924.

In circuit court this morning, McCaffrey & Cook, attorneys for the defendant said Horn had been in jail longer than the twenty hours required by law without a warrant and demanded his release.

PREDICTS ELECTION OF JOHN W. DAVIS

NEW YORK AND INDIANA NEARLY CERTAIN NOW.

IS DEVELOPING FERVOR

Taking on Evidence of Old Fashioned Political Campaign, Judge Cato Sells Telis D. F. Today.

The election of Davis and Bryan was forecast today by Judge Cato Sells, United States Commissioner of Indian Affairs during the Wilson administrations, who is a business visitor in Maryville today.

Judge Sells has been a conspicuous Democratic leader in Texas for the last few years and has also taken part in several Missouri campaigns.

Asked his opinion of the presidential outlook, he spoke of the campaign as being chiefly conspicuous for its moderation but said that there were accumulating evidences of developing activities which will result in an old-fashioned campaign during the next few weeks. He said the increasing interest was promising for the Democratic national ticket and that there were very substantial indications of New York going Democratic together with Indiana.

"These two states with the "solid South" and border states about which there is little if any doubt will elect the Democratic ticket," Judge Sells said. "However, if LaFollette develops anything like the strength claimed for him, the election of a President will be thrown into Congress, in which event Davis will be the next President."

It was Judge Sells' opinion that in one of the two ways mentioned, Davis was reasonably sure of election and that the election of Coolidge is almost impossible.

Judge Sells said that he was gratified to learn that Missouri is going back in the Democratic column this year where it belongs.

Speaking of politics in Texas, he said Davis and Bryan would receive 200,000 or more majority and that Mrs. Ferguson would be elected although, for local reasons, Dr. Butte, the Republican candidate, would poll considerable more than the usual vote.

Judge Sells was enthusiastic about Maryville and Nodaway County which he spoke of as "a great agricultural section." He said that any locality which successfully produced corn, blue grass and alfalfa was sure to be prosperous, lying as it does near the corners of four great agricultural states.

The creation of a federal marketing co-operation, LaFollette urged, was the immediate step necessary to restore agriculture "to its place as a business which can earn a margin of profit."

Immediately upon his arrival here from Chicago today, a LaFollette statement was issued attacking Secretary of War Week's radio speech Saturday night. Says Homer Makes Farm Life Unlovely

St. Louis Globe-Democrat Reviewer Thinks Beauty of Missouri Landscape Not Stressed Enough.

The following review of Homer Croy's "R. F. D. No. 3" is taken from yesterday's St. Louis Globe-Democrat:

By Jane Frances Winn.

"R. F. D. No. 3" by Homer Croy.

Homer Croy, as a former newspaper man, can never be accused of "journalistic" methods in his novel writing. He tells a story of a Missouri farm most realistically, making it most unlovely as he goes into the particulars of the every-day grind, the eternal fight against the weather, the hog cholera, the everlasting work, planting and hog killing, reaping and falling behind with the taxes, with all the incidental miseries of dirt roads, unsanitary back lots, uncomfortable, inconvenient farm houses, men smelling of stables and without collars, the tyranny of dish washing and cooking, the vulgar gossiping of women, that added the last straw of unloveliness. There is no reference to the wild flowers, the smell of grape blossoms, the pink of the morning sky, the frost upon the pumpkin—no poetry in it at all, and even the lovemaking is callous and businesslike.

Josie Decker lives on a farm six miles from Junction City, which was also the background for "West of the Watertower." The Decker family did its trading at Junction City, a dilapidated Ford serving most of the farmers of her time. Josie had won a beauty prize and was the apple of her mother's eye, and her father's as well. Her mother hated farm life and hoped for big things for Josie. The girl was selfish and proud, having had a year at boarding school, where she had learned "manners." Engaged to Orville Vert, she broke the engagement because he was not cultured enough to suit her and she turned up her nose at "Mr. Higbee," the richest farmer on the Rural Route No. 3, whose post office box was next to her father's. Then into her life came Floyd Kroek, who sold silos. She fell in love with him and they eloped to Kansas City, but it was too late to get a marriage license, and before it was possible for them to be legally married Floyd was arrested for stealing and later sent to the penitentiary for six years.

It was then that Josie discovered that she was no wife, but would soon be a mother. Despite the veneering of culture, Josie was not heroic in any way. She resented the way in which life drove her into a corner, but deeper than anything else was the mother instinct within her. What Higbee alone could never have accomplished with the girl, he could easily do with the expectant mother. The hero of whom she had dreamed, the man to whom "manners" were second nature, the man of charm and grace, was sacrificed that the child might be anchored in safety and respectability; and Higbee was willing to pay the price; poor one-armed Higbee, smelling of the stables, who never wore a collar, the only secret of whose life was love for the pretty, foolish, little creature.

What Herbert Quick is doing for Iowa, Homer Croy is doing for Missouri, but does he not take it just a little too seriously, and are there not some bright spots in Missouri farm and small town life, in which there is more beauty, more humor, mixed with the eternal grind?

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Geist and daughter Helen motored to Omaha Saturday morning and returned home last night.

WOMEN SPEAKERS TO HAVE MANUAL

Democratic Committee Issues Special Text Book for Use of Fair Campaigners.

RECORDS OF PARTIES GIVEN

Principal National Issues Explained in Form Readily Understood by Feminine Voters.

Washington, D. C.—For the first time in the history of politics, a textbook of campaign material, giving party records, sample speeches, "don'ts for women speakers" and a selection of political jingles and songs has been issued for the use of women campaigners. The book, which is just off the press, is "The Women's Democratic Campaign Manual" and is issued by the Democratic National Committee.

The Women's Manual is issued in attractive form and typing, and besides containing the usual campaign powder for attacking the Republican Administration and party record, it also has instructive information for the campaigner, and in the songs, jokes and jingles offers her a selection to add a lighter touch to her speech.

The manual opens with biographies of John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan, which are written in human interest style, with emphasis upon the points in the careers of both men most inclined to interest women. Of Mr. Davis it is said "that his record as a public servant shows him a supporter of the matters that pertain to Democratic interests and sympathetic to the things for which women stand in politics." Mr. Bryan's statement, made in his acceptance speech, welcoming the participation of women in politics, is quoted.

A review of the respective attitudes of the Democratic and Republican parties toward women voters is given, and it is claimed that as "first aid to the innocent in politics, as aider of women in their determination to stand for progressive measures and candidates the Democratic party is far in advance of its Republican opponent."

The history of the fight for the suffrage amendment is given in brief, and the prominent part played by the Democratic party and President Wilson in obtaining the vote for women is outlined.

Discusses Chief Issues

The major portion of the book is devoted to setting forth the six chief issues in the campaign, in a form readily understood by women voters and quickly available for women speakers. These issues are Conservation, in which is given a review of the Naval oil reserve scandals; the Tariff, in which it is explained how the high protective Fordney-McCumber Act is a great burden on the housekeeper and wife, as she expends the family budget; Foreign Relations, in which the attitude of the Democratic party is set forth in comparison with the Republican party's attempted backdoor "bootlegging participation" in the World Court; a comparison of the records of the two parties in sponsoring social welfare legislation; a comparison of the labor records, in which it is shown that Mr. Davis' labor stand is 100 per cent, and concluding with a relation of the civil service scandals in the Republican Administration of 1921-1924.

A chapter in the book is devoted to setting forth the record of the Democratic party on Child Labor laws, showing how the only two Federal laws ever enacted were by that party. Mr. Davis' record and campaign utterances on Child Labor are given in full, including his statement that if he were a member of a State legislature, he would vote to ratify the Child Labor amendment.

Women are invited to study the record of Calvin Coolidge, when as Governor of Massachusetts he was reputed to have halted the Boston police strike, thus laying the foundation for the "Coolidge myth of calmness, coolness and courage," the book states. The stand of Charles G. Dawes, the Republican vice-presidential candidate, against union labor and favoring the open shop is given. An "Oil Primer" of facts on the Naval oil reserves scandal and a list of Republican scandals are other chapters intended to furnish material for attack upon the opposing forces.

In "Mother Goose in Politics" a number of rhymes are given, of which this is a sample:

"POOR TOMMIE!

"Little Tommie Tucker pines for his supper—
But what can he eat? He can't afford butter.
And how can he slice bread without any knife?
This Republican tariff has blasted his life!"

A number of prominent women have contributed to the book including Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York; Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee; Mrs. Izetta Jewell Brown; "Ma" Ferguson; Mrs. Halsey W. Wilson, director of the Schools o Democracy; Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank Mrs. William Atherton DuPuy, an Mrs. Blair Banister, vice-chairman o the publicity committee of the Democratic National Committee, who i editor of the volume.

The Democratic National Committee, Washington, D. C., is distributing copies of the Manual.

Ballot Samples are Now Prepared

Resemble Small Blanket In Proportions—Seven Parties Are Represented With Emblems.

Jefferson City, Oct. 13.—Sample copies of the "blanket ballot" to be handed to voters at the polls in the November election were prepared in the office of the Secretary of State Saturday afternoon, to be sent to County Clerks. They resemble a small blanket in proportions. The ballot for the State measures one yard and two inches in length, and one foot and eight inches in width.

The St. Louis ballot will be 23½ inches in width, due to the filing of an eighth ticket there by the Progressive party, and it will be longer than the State ballot, as the St. Louis ticket carries more than one candidate for Circuit Judge and more than one candidate for State Representative.

The order of the tickets from left to right, with party emblem are: Republican, elephant; Democratic, Statue of Liberty; Socialist, the Socialist emblem of hands clasped across a globe; Socialist-Labor, an arm, with a hammer clasped in the hand; Prohibition party, a camel; Liberal party of Missouri, Liberty Bell; Community Land party, no emblem filed.

Order of the parties on the ballot is fixed by law according to the votes cast in the last general election, for the established parties, and new parties in the field go on the ballot in the order of filing of their tickets.

Give the children WRIGLEY'S after every meal

A prominent physician says:

"It is surprising how free from decay the teeth can be kept by using gum after each meal."

You know how hard it is to get the children to clean their teeth. By giving them WRIGLEY'S you not only reward them for cleaning their teeth, but the reward is actually the means of performing this important service!

WRIGLEY'S aids digestion too, and acts as an antiseptic wash for the mouth and throat. Several flavors-all of WRIGLEY quality.

"GREATER LOVE HATH NO MAN!"

RORY O'CONNOR & KEVIN O'HIGGINS

When the Irish revolt against English rule waged fiercest Kevin O'Higgins and Rory O'Connor fought side by side and were friends. When the Free State was recognized O'Higgins became Home Minister in the Cabinet. O'Connor joined the de Valeristas and revolted against his office he was informed that he was the sole heir to O'Connor's headed the rebels who seized the Four Courts in Dublin, which the Free State regained only after pitched battle, but even then O'Higgins and O'Connor were friends. O'Connor was sentenced to die, and it was O'Higgins alone who could save him. With tears in his eyes, O'Higgins listened to pleas for his friend's life; then, believing he did his duty, he signed the death warrant. All night he sat alone in his office praying for his doomed friend. In the morning when they told him O'Connor had met his fate O'Higgins collapsed and for a time it was feared he would die—for O'Connor was his friend. Colonial Minister Thomas, of the British Labor Cabinet, tells the sequel. When O'Higgins, still grieving over the fate of the friend he had sent to death, returned to his office he was informed that he was the sole hair to O'Connor's estate under a will the doomed man made just before he faced the firing squad.

What Advertising Has Done

It is only the ignorant man who today tries to belittle the influence of advertising.

Advertising has made the Victrola Dog famous.

Advertising has made the signature of Thomas A. Edison an image stamped on nearly every mind.

Advertising has run automobiles over the streets of practically every city in the world.

Advertising has started with one restaurant in one city and made a chain of them in scores of cities. Ask Mr. Thompson or Mr. Childs.

SHOULD THINK AS AMERICAN CITIZENS

TRANSPORTATION AUTHORITY IS MARYVILLE VISITOR.

BIG MARINE IS NEEDED

United States Must Now Compete for Commerce of World, Col. Sidney Story Tells Democrat-Forum.

"In this country we have been in the habit of regarding politics, government and commerce as three separate spheres of activity, when in reality for the greatest success of the nation, we should realize that commerce and government are inextricably interwoven," Col. Sidney Story, international director of maritime trades and president of the International Finance and Trading Corporation of America, told a Democrat-Forum reporter this morning.

Colonel Story is a business visitor in Maryville today.

"Here in America, I believe we think too much as Republicans or Democrats instead of thinking as Americans," Colonel Story continued. "Our country no longer can afford an 'isolationist' policy, but we must begin to play our part in international problems."

Colonel Story is an enthusiastic advocate of a large American marine and he possesses an intimate knowledge of this subject.

He told of the success of English statesmen in outwitting other nations in winning trade routes and declared that the British profited because there was no intelligent opposition.

"The Civil War," he said, "was due not only to the fanaticism of northern abolitionists and to the southern desire for secession, but to English intrigue inspired by a desire to hamper and destroy the merchant marine of the United States then becoming so active as to threaten the supremacy of British ocean transportation."

This intrigue was disclosed by official records to which Colonel Story said he had had access.

Colonel Story then told the "inside" of a number of incidents only partially told in newspapers at the time. Once President Taft abandoned a short ocean voyage because the attorney-general believed that the President was barred from embarking for a voyage on a vessel flying a foreign flag, and there was not one commercial ship available.

Antiquity and Whiskers

Tradition says that Adam wore a full beard. That is quite a natural supposition since that was before the time of razor advertisements. Beautifully executed bas reliefs have left no doubt that the early Persian kings cultivated whiskers. In fact, for further adornment they plaited them with golden thread. The Winged Bulls of Assyria are but types of those kings. The Chinese are a shaven people; the Egyptians were the same. But the Mohammedans are bearded, and Saladin's son, Turkish historians tell us, wept for fear when he saw the shaven envoys of the Crusaders. The world is, and always has been, divided into shavers and bearded. The greatest benefactor of barbers in the world's history was Alexander. He, who shaved himself to preserve his youth, shaved his army to prevent the enemy seizing their beards.

A LAFOLLETTE-NELSON

Combination Is Noted Again—Dr. Arthur Nelson in Lead With 187 Straw Votes.

"And the straight ticket through," commented two who had cast their ballot for the Davis-Nelson combination in the latest count of the Democrat-Forum straw vote this morning.

In checking up the sixteen recent straw votes that had been put in the Democrat-Forum ballot box the La-Follette-Nelson combination was noted again. However, this choice was not signified by any Nodaway County voter.

Of the Democrat-Forum ballots that had been clipped and sent in since last Thursday three came from Burlington Junction, one from Amity, Mo., one from Conception Junction and two from Skidmore, and the remainder Maryville and vicinity.

Another Democrat was not to be kept silent on the sheriff situation and voiced his sentiments for the sheriff race in Nodaway County by placing at the bottom of his ballot, "Campbell for sheriff." This has occurred more than once since this paper instituted a poll on the presidential and gubernatorial races.

The final standing in the Democrat-Forum poll, counting the votes sent in since Thursday, the vote is as follows:

Dr. Arthur W. Nelson, Democratic candidate for governor, 187; John W. Davis, presidential candidate on the Democratic party, 170; Robert M. LaFollette, independent candidate for president, 8; President Calvin Coolidge, 22; and Sam A. Baker, Republican gubernatorial candidate, 7.

Out of the sixteen votes polled in this last count there was one choice for the Coolidge-Baker combination.

Grand Opera Company to Be Here on Monday

Artists Now Touring the West — To Give Opera "The Secret of Susane."

The music lovers of Maryville and vicinity will have an opportunity next Monday evening to hear the Chicago Grand Opera Co. present the opera, "The Secret of Susane," to be given at the College auditorium. The entertainment will be given under the auspices of the Newman Club of the College.

The artists are now touring through the West before the opera season opens in Chicago in November. They are the opening attraction of five state university courses.

The company comprises Edwouard Cotreu, bass-baritone, who has sung in Paris and London. The soprano is Miss Lucie Weston, a great American born artist. In the play she alternates with Miss Florence MacBeth, who sang here during Music Week last Spring. The other role is taken by William Roberson, the leading tenor of the Chicago Grand Opera Association.

The first part of the program here will be devoted to concert numbers and the remainder to short opera of Ermanne Wolf-Ferrari. "The Secret of Susane" will be rendered in English.

Our Pet Peeve

Has Prohibition Been A Failure?

SAMUEL ADAMS,
Director General, Uncle Sam's Voters, Washington, D. C.

Few subjects are more consistently in the public notice than the whole question of the prohibition amendment and its enforcement. The feeling of the American people is clearly divided not only on the question of the advisability of prohibition but likewise on the possibility of effective enforcement of the law.

Yet for all its apparent importance, and the attention the newspapers pay to it, prohibition does not become a political issue. It is evaded whereever possible, except in sections that are overwhelmingly wet or dry. There the candidates are disposed to align themselves with their constituents, and sometimes they become very militant indeed.

There are a great many Americans who feel that the whole subject is given more attention than it intrinsically merits and that constant repetition of stories about bootlegging, etc., in the newspapers tend to keep alive an interest in John Barleycorn that might otherwise long since have subsided. Very likely there is something in this view. However, there are well-defined arguments both for and against the results of prohibition during the years it has been on trial, and an adequate solution of the problem depends on facts.

It will be recalled that general prohibition legislation was first introduced as a war-time measure, and that later a constitutional amendment was adopted making it permanent. During recent years all manner of attempts have been made to evade the operation of the act, through "home brewing," smuggling of liquor from Canada, Mexico, and the West Indies, and even by procuring fraudulent withdrawals of liquor stored in bonded warehouses, through the connivance of government officials. The greatest bar to enforcement probably is formed by those who consider it "smart" to evade the laws of the nation. The psychological attitude of the American people has been a large factor in the success of bootleggers and others of their ilk.

YES.

1. Prohibition has led to endless corruption in the government service. Great numbers of prohibition agents have been sent to penal institutions for graft and dishonesty. There has been a tremendous turnover in the prohibition enforcement forces from this one cause alone. The influence on other government employees, and on the general public, of this widely known corruption in the government service, is most detrimental. It extends far beyond the personnel of the prohibition unit itself, for many district attorneys have been involved in it, at least to the extent of suppressing prosecutions; and there have been instances—as at Gary, Hamtramck and elsewhere—of entire municipal governments accused of complicity with rings of bootleggers.

2. The experience of the Shipping Board has indicated that prohibition legislation is decidedly unpopular. Restrictions on the sale of liquor on government ships promptly had the effect of sending most of the trans-Atlantic passengers over to ships of foreign lines.

3. Prohibition has not ended the open saloon. Otherwise, what was General Smedley Butler doing in Philadelphia? And why did the mayor of Johnstown, Pa. intimate that certain government agents were collecting $2 graft for each barrel of beer brewed in the city?

4. It has drawn an undesirable lot of men into the government service. The great opportunities for graft that obviously exist in defying or evading the law are most attractive to the semi-criminal classes, and they seek to become "insiders." Through political pull they manage to get themselves appointed to some sort of job connected with enforcement, and then they rapidly get rich, presumably on their moderate salaries.

5. It has been highly detrimental to the American characted. It is breeding a race of hypocrites. Men and women everywhere flout the law and consider it "smart" to do so. They preach the benefits of prohibition—for others—but disregard it themselves. Perhaps the greatest damage has been to the morals of young people. Girls, it is admitted, drink much more generally now than they ever have in the past. The sight of their parents violating the law is not likely to induce them to observe it.

6. Prohibition was initiated as class legislation, and its administration to date has been on a class basis. Employers wanted it because they wanted sober workmen. The South wanted it because it wanted sober Negroes. But the employers, and well-to-do southerners, with rare exceptions, saw no reason why the law should apply to themselves. The workingman realizes this as well as anyone, and as a result is not becoming any more impressed than formerly with the sanctity of American institutions.

7. "Prohibition" is breeding disrespect for all law.

NO.

1. Prohibition has outlawed 177,000 saloons in the United States. Not all of them are closed, perhaps, but the few that remain open are operating in defiance of the law. It is interesting, moreover, that all the associations that seek the repeal of the prohibition laws deny that they want to re-establish the saloon.

2. Prohibition has proved that the nation does not need the revenue from the liquor traffic. Much was made of this source of income to the Federal Government, the states and the municipalities, but in general the finances of all our governmental organizations are at least in quite as good shape as they were before prohibition was enacted.

3. Prohibition has outlawed a vicious influence in American politics. Testimony taken before the Senate Judiciary Committee revealed that the liquor traffic had boycotted men who stood for prohibition and enforcement; and that all manner of corruption was traceable to liquor interests.

4. The consumption of liquor as a beverage in this country has been reduced by 70 per cent, according to statistics gathered from the best available sources of information. Admittedly a large amount of liquor is smuggled into the country, or made here illicitly, but although it gets disapproportionate attention in the newspapers its bulk is less than a third that of the organized liquor traffic of pre-war days.

5. A great many indications of civic betterment followed the introduction of prohibition, and it is fair to assume that prohibition was at least partly responsible for them. For example there has been a great increase in college enrollment since the war; motion picture receipts, candy sales, and savings bank deposits have increased enormously since prohibition was enacted; and church membership increased, in 1921, by 1 200,000, the greatest gain in many years.

6. Home brewing is now practically extinct. It was a gread fad for a time, but it proved dangerous and futile, and moreover, once the novelty had worn off, there was little interest in it.

7. Drunkards are seldom seen on the streets now. In pre-war days one could meet a dozen, at times, in any block where there was a barroom or two in operation. There has been an increase in arrests for drunkenness since prohibition became effective but this is due mainly to stricter enforcement on the part of the police, in all probability.

8. In spite of all the clamor against prohibition, sentiment in its favor is rapidly growing. Those who evade the law themselves generally reform if they see that their example is having a bad effect on their sons and daughters. Even the most hardened alcholic does not like to have his own family debauched as a result of his influence.

56 PER CENT CORN IS FULLY MATURED

CONDITION OF CROP ABOUT 57 PER CENT.

MOST WHEAT MARKETED

Missouri Corn Crop Matured Slowly During Last Month Due to Cool Weather—Condition 73 Per Cent.

The farmers of Nodaway County put the October condition of corn at 57 per cent; portion of corn crop fully matured, 56 per cent; amount of 1924 wheat crop marketed, 70 per cent; yield per acre of potatoes, 83 bushels; condition of soybeans, 67 per cent; apples 50 per cent; pastures, 96 per cent; milk produced per day is 9 pounds per cow; and 30 per cent of the hens are laying.

The Missouri corn crop matured slowly under cool weather in September, with a condition of 73 per cent of normal, indicating an average yield of 27 bushels per acre, totaling 182,493,000 bushels upon the 6,759,000 acres planted, according to E. A. Logan and Jewell Mayes of the United States Department of Agriculture and State Board of Agriculture. The yield in 1923 was 196,860,000 bushels upon 6,562,000 acres.

Owing to cooler weather during September than normal, only 64 per cent of the Missouri corn crop was fully matured on October 1st, compared to 83 per cent last year. The northeastern counties have lowest portion matured while southern third is quite well developed. Scattering fields required 30 days to mature sound corn and may not ripen. The frost of the last days of September stopped growth in most fields, but plants are now devoting their energy to maturing grain. Should freezing frost hold off beyond the middle of October or somewhat later, probably 75 to 80 per cent of the Missouri corn crop would be quite well matured, excepting the northeastern quarter. The acreage damaged by frost is so scattered that it is difficult to estimate.

Marketing the 1924 wheat crop progressed about as usual with 64 per cent of that threshed sold from the farm by October, compared to 62 per cent last year and 63 per cent in 1922. The range is from 56 per cent in central counties to 74 in northwestern.

Tame hay crops were generally good, best in northeast, central and southwest, with generous supply of forage feeds in all sections but quality is below average. Prairie hay was good in heavy acreage counties, and quality fine. Soybeans were weedy and made shorter growth than last year, with most of crop harvested late. Cowpeas were sown late in the southeast section, and made good crop in southeast. Kaffir and sorgo forage was late, harvesting delayed, with some slight damage from frost.

Pastures at 92 per cent are better than usual for fall, and exceptionally good in southwest. Grazing will be sufficient to carry livestock well into winter.

Wheat seeding is in progress, having been too dry in some of the northwest counties for breaking ground earlier, seeding has been recently delayed by rains. Early sown fields are coming up to fine stands. An increased acreage is indicated in western and central counties.

Garden crops are 84 per cent of normal, conditions fair in all sections. Potatoes average 99 bushels per acre, or 9,306,000 bushels, compared to 9,300 000 bushels last year. Sweet potatoes were nipped by frost and digging is in progress.

Milk production averages 14 pounds per cow each day against 17 last month, with 62 per cent of the cows in milk compared to 63 per cent. Milk production ranges from 12 pounds per cow in beef producing sections to 17 in dairy counties.

Eggs show a falling off from the first of September, as 24 per cent of the hens are now laying against 31 per cent in September.

Apples in northwest were damaged badly by high winds late in September. Picking the winter crop is on, with most of the apples sold at orchard. The indicated production is 50 per cent normal.

Fall seeding and harvesting of crops is under way, with supply of labor generally above demand. Feeding of hogs has begun, more lambs going to farms, and very little interest shown in cattle feeding. The recent light frosts closed the crop growing season.

Guests at Vogt Home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Vogt and daughters, Jane and Martha, of Stanberry were the week-end guests at the home of Mr. Vogt's brother, Clarence Vogt, and Mrs. Vogt, on West Third street.

He as a very industrious man, and believed in an honest day's work. In all of his dealings, he believed in practicing the Golden Rule. During his affliction of excruciating pain he bore it all with patience and love, with perfect resignation to the will of God. Several weeks before he bid farewell to the transient scenes of life, he expressed to his wife and children, that he was ready to go, and his constant petition was, "Lord, rememberest thou me." He died having a full assurance that he had made his peace with his heavenly Father, with a vision of the glories beyond.

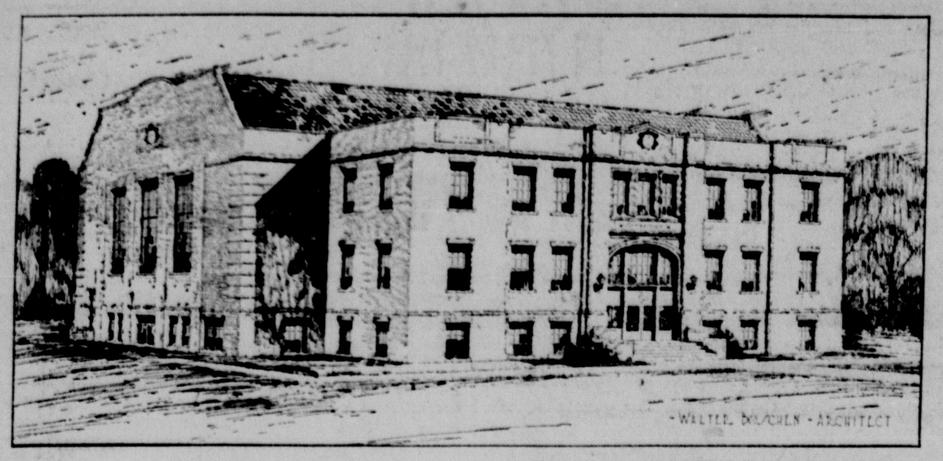
The New $104,165 College Gymnasium



Ground will be broken next week for the erection of a new $104,000 gymnasium building at the Northwest Missouri State Teachers' College. The building will be one of the finest of its type in this part of the country and will probably be ready for use when the annual spring basketball tournament is held next March.

Some of the specifications of the new gymnasium to be erected at the Northwest Missouri State Teachers' College, for which the bid has been let and construction to commence soon:

A two-story hytex brick structure, 111 feet 8 inches running north to south and 114 feet 8 inches east to west. The building will face east.

The exterior will be finished in red brick to harmonize with the other buildings on the college campus. Carthage stone will be used for the cornices and for trimmings about the sills.

The main entrance of the building will be slightly suggestive of the main entrance of the administration building with its large arched opening. Electric lamps similar in design and placement to those of residence hall front also will be used. The facade of the gymnasium will be bare save for stone in the cornices and a large stone motif. Slight projections of the wall at the corners will represent the "towers" of the main building. The architecture is strictly conservative, but effective, and of an "athletic type."

Entrance to the building will be by several stone steps to the main doorway. The lobby and hall will extend to the various offices and the gymnasium. One stairway, just inside the door, will lead to the dressing rooms and pool rooms, while another stairway will lead to the gallery and the upper offices.

The basement floor plan under the gymnasium proper will consist of a swimming pool, locker and shower rooms for men and women. The pool 21 by 60 feet built of concrete with a white tiled surface. The pool will be in depth from 4 feet 6 inches to 6 feet 6 inches, and nine feet at the deepest point.

A gallery for spectators along one side is included in the specifications four feet above the runway. A modern system of filteration and heating water is now being considered for the pool, the systems used at several of the large pools being discussed. About $2,000 will be needed for the installation of the system.

In the basement shower and locker rooms for men will be on the south side and for the women on the north side of the building. In the men's room will be a Turkish bath 6 feet by 8 feet. There will also be a laundry and drying room in the center. Boxes for students for the suits are planned. A room 15 by 23 feet for the visiting team or class rooms and shower room for the men faculty is to be located on the east side of the basement. Also on north side a women's toilet and shower for spectators. A small tank heating water to be used in the summer will eliminate the use of the large heating system.

The gymnasium floor is 108 feet 10 inches by 79 feet, 10 inches. The one floor to be divided by curtain. A balcony will run along two sides, 12 feet wide. The seating capacity is estimated at 1800 and seats can be put in for 400 more. From the gymnasium floor to truss above is 22 feet, the regulation height for basketball floors. From the floor to ceiling is 34 feet.

In the fore part of first floor will be apparatus and class room 15 feet 6 inches by 24 feet. On south side of this two offices for physical director and visiting team rooms. Two class rooms and suite of offices for physician and a corridor to the balcony is on second story.

Exits will be located on the north, south and east sides of the building.

The floors of the offices and basketball floor will be covered with maple over the concrete base.

The building will be on College avenue, at the south end of the campus. It will face the east, 150 feet west of Ray avenue. The general plan for a "layout" of the college campus is to place any other buildings between the administration building and the gymnasium, and thus make a handsome "quad" campus.

SPOOFHOUNDS HAVE BIG TASK AHEAD

LAFAYETTE ON SCHEDULE FOR COMING FRIDAY.

HAVE SMASHING LINE

Savannah, Conceded Most Dangerous Team in District, Falls Before St. Joseph Men Saturday.

Discouraging news has drifted into the Spoofhound camp—not that there were any injuries in the game with Westboro, but that Lafayette Hi defeated the much touted Savannah eleven, 25 to 13.

The second conference game for the Spoofhounds is on Friday of this week with the winner of the Lafayette-Savannah clash. This makes the appearance of things rather dark for Coach Harold G. Ebert's men, but it may serve as an incentive for the boys to dig in this week in the most intensive practice of the year in preparation of the game. Bunk Miller, who was taken out in the final quarter last Thursday of a jolt below his knee, is off the injured list again. But that does not quiet matters as "Koky" Cockayne is complaining with a bum shoulder that hampers him when warding off opposing tacklers.

The reports of the game at St. Joseph reveal that the Spoofhounds' opponents next Friday have a strong line, and the Lafayette Hi gridders were able to break through Savannah's line at will to mess up forward passes and block punts. Savannah scored both of its touchdowns in the last quarter by the aid of an aerial attack.

This is the first defeat that Savannah has suffered this year, having trampled over the Mound City and Christian Brothers College by large scores.

The Spoofhounds will have to be on edge when they meet the Lafayette boys and will need the support of a number of loyal Maryville High School rooters.

Coach Ebert's men will also meet the defeated team in Saturday's conflict at Savannah plays the homecoming game here on October 31. The Lafayette victory was somewhat of an upset as were some other games played Saturday.

Missouri was able to cross Missouri Wesleyan's goal twice for a score of 14. Nebraska, always credited with one of the best machines in the West, went down before Coach Bennie Owens's forward passing Sooners 7 to 14. Washington fell before Grinnell, while the Jayhawkers from Kansas University left their feathers on the field for the Ames Cyclones to kick around in glory. Drake, another Missouri Valley team, playing Knox, won 19 to 10.

The Lafayette-Savannah game may be discouraging to the local Black and Green team, but another game on Saturday gives much cheer, although it has no relation to the other games on the Spoofhound schedule. Fairfax, beaten by Ebert's chargers, defeated St. Joseph Benton 26 to 0, outplaying the south side school of St. Joseph in every department.

ATTENTION LEGIONNAIRES!

All members and prospective legion members are hereby requested to meet at Dr. Person's office at 7:30 tomorrow evening. This meeting is one preparatory to the encampment on the Nodaway next Saturday.

Sarazen Wins Third International Race

Sarazen set a track record and won the third of the series of international races at Latonia track, Cincinnati, Saturday, winning an added purse of $50,000. Epinard, the French horse, as in the other two races, came in second. Sarazen is conceded to be the fastest horse in America but there was some question whether he could stand up under the gruelling derby distance, a mile and a quarter.

Is Visiting Sister.

Mrs. E. L. Morgan of Graham came yesterday and is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. J. H. Sewell and family.

Has Seventy Acres of Good Yellow Corn

George Neal, east of Pickering, has about seventy acres of good yellow corn which he thinks will yield on the average of forty-five bushels an acre. Mr. Neal brought in a sample of the corn to the Democrat-Forum office this afternoon. He has already gathered about ten acres of it. He lost about seven acres this spring on account of the heavy rains.
